

Recommendations of the 'Russian Agenda' Round Table

'Russian Agenda' Round Table prepared recommendations as a result of discussing campaign papers by Russian Prime Minister Vladimir Putin. The discussion involved Siberian Expert Club members.

The discussion involved the representatives of research community. Researchers and university staff members spoke about the papers, shared their own perspective of economic tasks and tried to answer the question of what the national market can do under the condition of 'the lack of comfortable niches'. Discussion also touched upon the problem of 'generating innovations' instead of buying them.
